

Invisible

Hal Ketchum

Standing on the corner with my paper cup Nickels, dimes and quarters never near enough
The busy people walk on by never look me in the eye
I become expandable, untouchable, invisible

Son I care, its says I'll work for anything Was a time when I could make that hammers bring I was young and I was strong always thought I'd get alone
But I become, expendable, untouchable, invisible

I can understand why you don't wanna see a men how's fallen thi s far down and out Might give you room for doubt, I can sympathizing if you looked into my eyes you might see you're self on the other side of ho pe

Expandable, untouchable, invisible

I can understand why you don't wane see a man how's fallen this far down and out
Might give you room for doubt, I can sympathizing if you looked
pe

You see me on the roadside, please don't look away, I got something precious to give too you today, so take a poor men's sympathy and the gift of never be a need Expandable, untouchable, invisible
May you never be expandable untouchable invisible
