Asleep

Haley Blais

By the way I'm leaving today I need to go home
And by the look that's on my face that's not what I wanted you to say, no

So why do you fall asleep when you can have me
Why do you fall asleep when you can have me

But it's too late you've already gone and the sun's just set
Guess I was just sitting inside of my head too long and regret the time so I think

Why don't I fall asleep so he can have me
Why don't I fall asleep so he can have me

I don't regret the things that I said it's not about that Maybe you left because of the things I never did

So why do you fall asleep when you can have me
Why do you fall asleep when you can have me

And my body's like a garden unattended at the harvest
What's to eat if there is nothing left to reap?
And in the morning you'll remember to come and water love me tender
At your convenience 'cause you know that I will wait
'Cause you know that I will wait
Does it matter anyway?
