

Blue Diamonds Fall

Haley Bonar

Blue diamonds fall and I couldn't care less
'Cause the one that I call on has named me second best
And it's dust on the window and dust that we turn into
So I'll roll around the wreckage and come crawling back to you

And I'm only slightly ashamed to say
I wouldn't take it from him any other way
You can be whatever you like
Prostitute or loving wife
Our future tastes so bright
That our teeth are dentyne white
Watching from the rooftops as they're screaming at the dogs
We were running through our childhood
Jumping through a smoke screen
Un-terrified and underpaid in everything you do
Just remember to be smart or they'll come running after you

And I'm only slightly ashamed to say
I wouldn't take it from him any other way
You can be whatever you like
Prostitute or loving wife
Our future tastes so bright
That our teeth are dentyne white

You can be whatever you like
You can be whatever you like
You can be whatever you like
You can be whatever

It's all on credit anyway, until we're out of things to say
It's all on credit anyway, until we're out of things to say

You can be whatever you like
You can be whatever you like
You can be whatever you like
You can be whatever
