

Sane

Haley Heynderickx

Why am I frightened if it's all just a game
Why am I frightened if it's all just a game
But the look in your eyes
Oh the look in your eyes
Oh the look in your eyes kept me sane

Why am I childish, oh why can't I make sense
If everything's certain, well I'm certainly offended
But the look in your eyes
Oh the look in your eyes
Oh the look in your eyes kept me sane

And the fault of the gods was letting you out and
Building the bridge with the backs of your eyelids
You never complain
Never complain
You never complain, and the look in your eyes kept me sane

And the fault of the gods was letting you out and
Building the bridge with the backs of your eyelids
You never complain
Never complain
You never complain, and the look in your eyes kept me sane