

Half Loved

Haley Joelle

Half of your heart's broken in London
Half of it's here not tryna rush in
You lost her a month ago
So you still need to take it slow
I don't wanna be a distraction
I've been there before, I know what happens
I'll lose you in two months time
You'll say the timing wasn't right

It could work but it won't
You need more time to be alone
But it's still gonna hurt when you go 'cause

Half of me hopes it's you and me
Getting too drunk on New Year's Eve
Dancing around and watching the sun come up, up
But half of me knows it won't work out
You're still moving on I'm ready now
All of me feels like it wouldn't be enough
And I don't wanna be half loved

Part of me still wants to believe it
I won't be left picking up pieces
You'll keep calling every day
And won't call me just some mistake
Reality is healing is slower
Than spending one night on somebody's shoulder
I might love the thought of us
But I don't wanna be your crutch

So this won't work 'cause I know
You need more time to be alone
But it's still gonna hurt when you go 'cause

Half of me hopes it's you and me
Getting too drunk on New Year's Eve
Dancing around and watching the sun come up, up
But half of me knows it won't work out
You're still moving on I'm ready now
All of me feels like it wouldn't be enough
And I don't wanna be half loved

Ahhh
Ahhh
Ahhh
Ahhh
Ahhh
Ahhh
Ahhh
Ahhh

Half of me hopes one day you'll be
The other half I know I need
But all of me knows that you're still not whole enough
And I don't wanna be half loved