

You Too?

Haley Joelle

I was 15 when I told him my friend got sick
And I knew he'd also been through it
So he said I'll come by and I'll take you out
Cause you'll feel much better talking it out

He picked me up on our way
But we passed the breakfast place
At his house now he said "come in"
He was older so I listened

Did he do that to you too?
Locked you inside of his room
Held your arms down on the bed
I'm sorry that it wasn't me instead
Cause it hurts hearing your hurt
And out of us you got the worst
Always thought that it was only me
But we got each other now
At least

I was 18 when I realized what happened then
When you got my number from a friend
Asking if we could meet for coffee in town
Then you said his name when I sat down

That's when I knew that you'd been through
Way more than what he made me do
You said, like me, you were the same age
And I swear I felt my heart break

Did he do that to you too?
Locked you inside of his room
Held your arms down on the bed
I'm sorry that it wasn't me instead
Cause it hurts hearing your hurt
And out of us you got the worst
Always thought that it was only me
But we got each other now
At least

Mmmm

Mmmm

Now I'm 20 and I have no clue where he is Cause they couldn't prove the things he did
Hope you know all that you gave to me
Cause we got each other now
At least
