

Outbreak

Half Me

Retain the image with a concrete mask
I better watch my mouth when they come and ask
Yeah it's time again for me to pass
Running around with a bounty on my head
It's getting harder to escape
I don't think anyone relates
Time again to understand
That I am cutting off deadweight

Everybody lies
Crowned a witness, scraped my eyes
Wash away the bitter taste of scapegoat innocence

Find a way to fucking cope with it
A pattern in the snow, and I'm alone with it finally Finding truth in every gear of this machinery

Blame, take it away
Blame, paralyzing

The weight that I can feel, their eyes on me
Heavy bones repel the flesh; the price of being free
Pay up

Everybody lies
Crowned a witness, scraped my eyes
Wash away the bitter taste of scapegoat innocence

Lingering in my fate
I will never break

Treacherous, what are you hiding from the rest of us?
I will never lay down arms
I will never scorn my fate

Everybody lies