

The Witch

Half Me

I looked into the eyes of the witch
Now I'm waiting that the curse for me will hit
I was expecting that it would always last as it was but
My wooden body rots

The scream of the banshee
Is piercing my ears
And the sound is relentless
I cannot see
And the smell of my tears leaves me so defenseless
As the darkness surrounds me
And the noise's getting close
It seems like there is no way
To leave this fucking pond

Stumbling through the night it feels like all hell let loose (By now)
I'm left as the only one that's searching for you (For you)
I obey the master, that's what serves have to do
So I'm the one that finally sees what's planning our doom

I looked into the eyes of the witch
Now I'm waiting that the curse for me will hit
I was expecting that it would always last as it was but
My wooden body rots

Join me in decay
What if we are the ones that are different from them
And it's our burden to burn down to our stems

Oh, what the fuck is up
Plot twist motherfucker

There ain't no witches we're just not capable
Of blaming the ones that are guilty
Of turning this place into a pile of shit
And calling themselves the fucking kings of it

Bitch
Light this place up, burn
This ain't a fucking fairytale