

Back Around

half•alive

I've been waiting on the rain to
Erase all the steps I've made
I'm at the point where I need to get lost
To find my way home again

I've been on my own, changing with the seasons
Dying with the leaves, I'm coming back around
Little did I know, start to see the meaning
Find what I believe is

Is coming back around
Is coming back around
Is coming, coming, coming

Push the focus but keep something in frame
If I don't leave now, I might not make it off the ground
I'll keep on growing up, taking time at my own pace
Break it all down if it doesn't give me
What I need now and come back around

I've been on my own, changing with the seasons
Dying with the leaves, I'm coming back around
Little did I know, start to see the meaning
Find what I believe is

Is coming back around
Is coming back around
No season lasts forever
It's coming back

(Waiting, waiting)
(Waiting, waiting)

I've been waiting on the rain to
Erase all the steps I've made
I'm at the point where I need to get lost
To find my way home again

I've been on my own, changing with the seasons
Dying with the leaves, I'm coming back around
Little did I know, start to see the meaning
Find what I believe is coming back now

I've been on my own, but trust me I'm okay
Just need some time to think, I need to walk it out
I know that you love me, but I don't think you can help me
Let me walk in circles, I'll be back around

(Bring it back now)
(It's coming back around)
(Oh, it's coming back now)
(No season lasts forever)
