

Move Me

half•alive

I never told, You never asked
'Til I got older, I kept it wrapped
You had me open up my past
I came to notice what I want so bad

You know I wanna live too fast and die too young
It ain't that bad, just don't look up
I found my path, is that enough?
While I was gettin' used to what I thought was love
You made me laugh, I came undone
'Cause all I had was not enough

I want You to move me
I want You to move me
Step into the moonlight
Throw Your weight into me

I want Your storm shakin' the trees
I want Your waves breakin' on me
I want Your knife to cut the seams
When all the feelings tie me up too deep

You know I wanna live too fast and die too young
It ain't that bad, just don't look up
I found my path, is that enough?
While I was gettin' used to what I thought was love
You made me laugh, I came undone
'Cause all I had was not enough

I want You to move me
I want You to move me
Step into the moonlight
Throw Your weight into me

Be my train and where I stand
Won't You be my song when I can't dance?
Light my fire and burn the trees
No, I won't get tired when I can't breathe (I want You to move me)
Be my train and where I stand
Won't You be my song when I can't dance? (I want You to move me)
Light my fire and burn the trees
No, I won't get tired when I can't breathe (Step into the moonlight)
Be my train and where I stand
Won't You be my song when I can't dance? (Throw Your weight into me)
Light my fire and burn the trees
No, I won't get tired when I can't breathe

Be my train and where I stand
Would You be my song when I can't dance?
Light my fire and burn the trees
No, I won't get tired when I can't breathe
