

the notion

half•alive

"I was a little bit surprised when you told me that everybody on your tour had faith. I find it so rare meeting people that are young and... do believe here. I think it's why I find it so much easier to even speak about these things when I'm in different places. Like, even in Europe, like, real Europe, not England Europe. The notion of it... is more... around."