

The Point

half•alive

Forever's feeling out of balance
Like fighting never ending patterns you can't win
Motivation looking backwards
Gain the world but lose your soul
Earning money just to have it
Keeping busy is a habit I can't kick
Who am I when nothing happens
Feel the rush and don't look back now

Go on forever ever trying to be
Something way better better than just being
Go on forever ever trying to be
Something way better better than just being
What's the point?
What's the point?

Who am I without an echo?
A million things I couldn't let go all my life
Faith will take me by the collar
And say I need to weigh more than unbelief

We all worship
Something or someone
Is it surface
I've been searching
Go on forever ever trying to be
Something way better better than just being
Go on forever ever trying to be
Something way better better than just being

Go on forever ever trying to be
Something way better better than just being
Go on forever ever trying to be
Something way better better than just being
What's the point?
What's the point?
Go on forever ever trying to be
Something way better better than just being

Go on forever ever trying to be
Something way better better than just being
Go on forever ever trying to be
Something way better better than just being
What's the point?
What's the point?
Go on forever ever trying to be Something way better better better