Burn

Halflives

Walking down on the boulevard thinking
"Where the hell can I hide myself?"
Did I lose it all?

Tired of filling the emptiness baby
It's so hard to be all alone
Now do you care at all?

Someone tell me why I'm here
How to make this sorrow disappear
Can you tell me now that everything's just fine like this?

'Cause I'm burning down the house
I burn my affliction
I burn my addiction
'Cause I'm burning down the house
I'm burning these walls right to the ground

'Cause I'm burning down the house
I burn my affliction
I burn my addiction
'Cause I'm burning down the house
I'm burning these walls right to the ground

Six a.m. still wandering
I got loneliness keeping company
But I don't mind at all

Each step brings me closer baby
Isn't it hard to be all alone
Or you don't care at all?

Someone tell me why I'm here
Can I make this sorrow disappear?
Do you really tell yourself that you're okay with this?

'Cause I'm burning down the house
I burn my affliction
I burn my addiction
'Cause I'm burning down the house
I'm burning these walls right to the ground

'Cause I'm burning down the house
I burn my affliction
I burn my addiction
'Cause I'm burning down the house
I'm burning these walls right to the ground

Couldn't keep me safe
Couldn't keep me safe from misery
Couldn't keep me safe from all those lonely nights awake
Couldn't keep me safe
Couldn't keep me safe from misery
Couldn't keep me safe from all those nights away from you

'Cause I'm burning down the house
I burn my affliction

I burn my addiction
'Cause I'm burning down the house
I'm burning these walls right to the ground

'Cause I'm burning down the house
'Cause I'm burning down the house
I'm burning these walls right to the ground

'Cause I'm burning down the house
