

Echo

Halflives

You will never know my days without you, oh
And now I wonder
If it's right to disappear
Don't know what's the point of breathing without you
And now I want to
I just want to fade away

Where do I come from?
Now I don't know
'Cause your arms were my abode
Looking for a place where I can stay
Where I won't feel this way

Now I only hear the echo
Only hear the echo of your name
Now I only hear the echo
Only hear the echo of your name
Now I only hear the echo
Only hear the echo of
Now I only hear the echo of your name

I will never know your days without me, oh
So did it hurt you?
Did you even shed a tear?
I know you will fly into someone else's sky
I'm going under
Since you're not here by my side

Where do I come from?
Now I don't know
'Cause your arms were my abode
I know there's no place where I can stay
Where I won't see your face

Now I only hear the echo
Only hear the echo of your name
Now I only hear the echo
Only hear the echo of your name
Now I only hear the echo
Only hear the echo of
Now I only hear the echo of your name

You will never ever know
I can't ever let it go

Now I only hear the echo
Only hear the echo of your name
Now I only hear the echo
Only hear the echo of your name
Now I only hear the echo
Only hear the echo of
Now I only hear the echo of your name

Now I only hear the echo
(Of your name)
Only hear the echo of your name
Now I only hear the echo

(Of your name)

Only hear the echo of your name