

My Mind

HalfNoise

All the time
Some days you don't remember
You're always mine
Some days you don't remember

You always change my mind
You always change my mind

So I'll look all around
To try and find
A love we used to have

You always change my mind
You always change my mind

Well, it seems it's fading
The youth we lived in
You said we'd make it
And I know we'll make it
I left that door open
I know I should have closed it
I thought you wouldn't notice
But you always notice

You always change my mind
You always change my mind
You always change my mind
