

Tuesday's Waiting

Halifax

Don't roll your eyes, 'cause I'm the same guy you new in high school. It's been two years now you act like I'm a stranger. Do you realize? We used to carpool, and on the way, we'd make up stories like how we're gonna be a rock star. A rock star. A rock star. We'd make up stories like how we're gonna be a rock star.

We're gonna be the ones who said, "friends forever, I know we'll never fall apart." Now you're lookin' like you don't know me. Fall apart now you're lookin' like you don't know me. We're gonna be the ones who said, "friends forever, I know we'll never fall apart." Now you're lookin' like you don't know me. Fall apart now you're lookin' like you don't know me.

Time is on my side, and in the end we'll see who got the best of life. You'll never live your life. 'cause I'm sure, where we left off is where you left off you couldn't get off your bed and show off. And may be in awe. You were so sure. Make up stories like how were gonna be a rock star.

You said, "friends forever, I'll know we'll never fall apart." Now you're lookin' like you don't know me. Fall apart now you're lookin' like you don't know me. Gonna be the ones who said, "friends forever, I know we'll never fall apart." Now you're lookin' like you don't know me. Fall apart now you're lookin' like you don't know me. We're gonna be the ones who said, "friends forever, I know we'll never fall apart." Now you're lookin' like you don't know me. Fall apart now you're lookin' like you don't know me. We're gonna be the ones who said, "friends forever, I know we'll never fall apart." Now you're lookin' like you don't know me. Fall apart now you're lookin' like you don't know me.