

intro

Halle

Once upon a time
There was a young girl that believed in love
She had the spirit of a ram and the voice of an angel
She believed everyone belonged to someone
A soul for a soul

All she ever wanted in life was to find the truest form of love
Was that ever possible?

And here's what happened