Templars of Steel

HammerFall

The hands of time have brought you here To make a change, to break down the walls You are the ones and you are the only Trying to live by your own goals

And you all cry for freedom Raise your fists to the sky

Let your voice speak for the revolution All join forces with all the powers that you feel Let your heart beat for the revolution Led by the templars of steel

Let's spread the word of the sole survivors With metal pounding inside their souls The fire burns, and it will forever Blaze for the ones who stands strong

And you all cry for freedom With your fists in the sky

Let your voice speak for the revolution
All join forces with all the powers that you feel
Let your heart beat for the revolution
Led by the templars of steel
You are the templars of steel

Oh, oh, oh ...

Let your voice speak for the revolution All join forces with all the powers that you feel Let your heart beat for the revolution Led by the templars of steel

Let your voice speak for the revolution
All join forces with all the powers that you feel
Let your heart beat for the revolution
Led by the templars of steel
You are the templars of steel