

Bloodshot

Handsome Ghost

I've been running around like an unkempt kid
Tryin' to remember the things I did
If I went too far I hope it doesn't do me in
'Cause they tell me a man is just the sum of his parts
Well I'm body, and blood, and a terrible heart
And it all adds up to every different person I've been

I wanted to crash your party
But I couldn't find your house
I wanted to touch your body
And kiss you on the mouth

Bloodshot
What do you want?
What do you want?

I know that you see me as a younger man
But cities and countries, they had other plans
And we all grow up
What do you think, you're gonna grow back?
And the people around me, they're not my friends
You can do what you want, I'd rather pretend
'Cause no one should be lonely
Everyone needs people like that

I wanted to crash your party
But I couldn't find your house
I wanted to touch your body
And kiss you on the mouth

Bloodshot
What do you want?
What do you want?

Everyone you know is living at home
In the gutted out basements and chemical zones

Bloodshot
What do you want?
What do you want?

Bloodshot
What do you want?
What do you want?
