

Seven

Hanker

Selfishness with our self pride,
Sloth and rage live deep inside

We have all fallen
Into the world of sin

Miserliness with our greed
Desire and lust are what we need

We have all fallen
Into the world of

Me and you, the world
We are all alone, all alone

In a bed of sins we all lay down

You know what they say,
You know what they say,
It's too late to pray

Me and you, the world,
We are all alone, all alone
Into the world of
Me and you, the world,
We are all alone, all alone