

I Am

Hanson

Gone astray we find ourselves
Right on the edge of falling apart
Don't you see it's in our ways
When something's done wrong, we just go along
It lights a fire inside of me
Just show me when this living stops

I am father and son
I am all that I fear
I can choose to give up
We could tear the world apart
Tear the world apart
We could tear the world apart

Cut the cord start to breathe
We're living life at frantic speed
Don the suit and ride the steed
With these shackles on you won't come to harm
But I could be the worst of these
A sinking ship in the open sea

I am father and son
I am all that i fear
I can choose to give up
We could tear the world apart
Tear the world apart
We could tear the world apart

All on my own I'm trying
To change how you see and what you believe
To fight fire with fire and live eye for eye
We'll all end up blind and burning
Burning, burning

We could tear the world apart
We could tear the world apart
We could tear the world apart
We could tear the world apart
