Next Train

Hanson

Well, I've finally found tomorrow
Cos I just now found today
And I'm left with all the sorrow
Lingering from yesterday

So I'm leaving this behind on the next train
To a place where I don't know
When I leave I may not ride on the best train
But I'm tired of trying to let go

Well, I'd love for you to be there
On the day I say goodbye
But I've lost too much to your stare
To even waste a sigh

So I'm leaving this behind on the next train
To a place where I don't know
Yes I'm leaving this behind on the next plane
Cos I'm tired of trying to let go

You're the drug that's in my vein
You life me up and leave me pain
I'm broken, beaten, barely sane
So I'm leaving on the next train
I'll gladly stay to wait it through
And find out what I've meant to you
But it's given me this time
So I'm leaving this behind

So I'm leaving
So I'm leaving this behind on the next train
To a place where I don't know
When I leave I may not ride on the best train
But I'm tired of trying to let go

Yes, I'm tired of trying to let go
