

Where I Belong

Hanson

Some nights
When the lights go out I cry
Because it feels so dark
And I weep
Hoping someone will hear me call
From where I belong
Somehow
Someway

I've been lost so long
I can't remember
Anymore

I've been searching
Trying to reclaim
Who I am

Somewhere
Under the rainbow faraway
Somewhere that I can call my own

Always sparkling in the summer rain
Somewhere that I won't feel so broken

Somewhere that feels like home

Let me float away
I don't want to search all my days for Love (loving)

Take me from this place
So that I can trade bitter tears for
Honey (honey)

Some nights
When the lights go out I cry
'Cause it feels so dark
And I weep
Hoping someone will hear me call
From where I belong
Somehow
And take me
Home
