

Tragic

Happy Rhodes

I see you because you are tragic
And I need you for the same
There's a little bit of you in me
You can't escape what you became

You have the look of ill fate about you
You and all your brothers too
And I reach out as if I contain the antidote
But of course I don't

I see you because you are tragic
And I need you for the same
There's a little bit of you in me
You can't escape what you became

Although we share pain and despair
Somehow you are predisposed to Suffer the most

I see you because you are tragic
I'll look for you in the rain

The roots you wanted to grow
Will never take you know
Cause this is all just an exercise
And you're not alone

I see you because you are tragic
And I need you for the same
There's a little bit of you in me
You can't escape what you became

I see you because you're so tragic
And I need you for the same
(Reason)
There's a little bit of you in me
I'll look for you in the rain

I see you because you are tragic
And I need you for the same
There's a little bit of you in me
You can't escape what you became

I see you because you're so tragic
And I need you for the same
(Reason)
There's a little bit of you in me
I'll look for you in the rain
