

happy

Hardy

Happy lives all around the world
Inside of every boy and girl, yeah
Dollar bills and gold and pearls
Ain't never been his style

And Happy's always by your side
Never not willing to provide
But if you abuse him for the night
He don't show for a while

Well, Happy don't have lies to tell
He doesn't want nothing from no one else and he Never does concern himself with who's right or wrong
Happy don't like alcohol
Bitterness or cruel at all
But when he hears love sing through the wall
Well, Happy sings along

My old friend
Where has the time gone?
We were thick as thieves
Until hate came along
What a mess
We've gotten into
Hey Happy, why can't everybody just be
You?

Well, Happy sits there patiently
In line behind jealousy
Waiting on a humble epiphany
That your grass might be greener
And Happy's never liked the view
Of "I ain't good enough" Avenue
'Cause you can bet if you don't like you, you don't like Happy neither

Oh, my old friend
Where has the time gone?
We were thick as thieves
Until hate came along
What a mess
We've gotten into
Hey Happy, why can't everybody just be you?

These days, Happy spends his time
Beating on the door of most folks' minds
Knowing he's about to hit his finish line
If we don't let him in
But that ain't up to him, nah

My old friend
Where has the time gone?
We were thick as thieves
Until hate came along
What a mess
We've gotten into
Hey Happy, why can't everybody just be you?
Why can't everybody just be you?

Why can't everybody just be
You?
