

Everybody Else

Harem Scarem

She led me in it eyes wide open
But blinded by the thrill of harmony
Warning signs to read
I did not notice
The bird has come to feed
And so far taken what she needs
She bled me like a stone that's sinking
Of all the love that I could ever bleed
Shades of all the greed
I did not notice
Falling for the green
That colour paints another scene
Our love was sweet
It decayed our brains
As I eat my words I feel
The pain of late
No more feeling I should be here
No more pretending I'm O.K.
No more dealing with the real world
Like everybody else
