

(I Could Only) Whisper Your Name

Harry Connick, Jr.

Somebody was spreadin' rumors
About better days are commin'
Why was I hummin'? As if I knew
One and the same but I just whispered your name

Somebody was sayin' somethin'
'Bout there bein' an end to tyranny
But when they asked me, what will I do
If that day came, I only whispered your name

Everyone got their own opinion
And protects their own dominion
Laws count for them it's true, but I tell them
What I really believe, my only worry is protectin' you

No one should ever be lonely
We'd all find somebody to care
Ask me if I dare to answer who Could carry that blame I only whispered your name

Everyone got their own opinion
And protects their own dominion
Laws count for them it's true, but I tell them
What I really believe, my only worry is protectin' you

No one should ever be lonely
We'd all find somebody to care, well
Ask me if I dare to answer who could carry that blame
Carry that blame, carry that blame, I just whisper your name
