

War Is Love

Harry Styles

You'd rather leave me broken
Than whole with an empty heart
We were better left unspoken
Than a million miles apart
It's torture here in the space between
As you're loving and leaving me

You say there's nothing left to fight for
Cause this feels like too much
Your heart is too afraid to want more
Of the pain you'll have to touch

You'll only win if you don't give up
Cause love is war and war is love

Trying to give up on perfect
In your battle of one, oh...
Trying to believe you're worth it
When every piece of you wants to run
So now, that you're caught in the space between
And you're the only enemy

You say there's nothing left to fight for
Cause this feels like too much
Your heart is too afraid to want more
Of the pain you'll have to touch

You only win if you don't give up
Cause love is war and war is love

You say there's nothing here to fight for
Cause this feels like too much
Your heart is too afraid to want more
Of the pain you'll have to touch

You only win if you don't give up
When everything won't be enough
Cause love is war and war is love
