Concerning the Way It Was

Haste the Day

The shadow cast upon me

Eyes sewn shut with the wires

Lies bound by the lies that pierce my skin

Heart as cold as winter

Although there is no season

In this place of loneliness

I'm drowning
Every day the same
Locked at the ankles plotting my escape
I've tried so hard to remind myself
Life's only what I see
I thought I lost the meaning but I was only finding you

The years without the freedom
Tortured by words of reason
Convincing those around me
That life consists of nothing
And dead the end of all things
You've broken through the darkness
The shadow gone forever

And now I live And now there's hope (4x)