The Key

Hatchie

Taste it, touch it
Hold it, feel it
Waste it, rush it
Scold it, seal it

Lost sight of who I'm supposed to be
But within the chaos I can see, I'm not me
Am I supposed to feel complete?
Shouldn't the keeper of the key be free?

Do I regret what I wanted?
Regret that I bought it?
Confess I want everything?
Do I regret that I wanted to be something so haunted?
Haunted by everything?

Did I ever want anything?
Didn't think about what that brings
Should have given up every dream
I'll eternally swim upstream

Taste it, touch it
Hold it, feel it
Waste it, rush it
Scold it, seal it

Followed you through a broken dream
Lead to a cage not built for me, with no key
What's it like to never feel defeat?
You must feel so lucky to be out of reach

Do I regret what I wanted?
Regret that I bought it?
Confess I want everything?
Do I regret that I wanted to be something so haunted?
Haunted by everything?

Did I ever want anything?
Didn't think about what that brings
Should have given up every dream
I'll eternally swim upstream

Do I regret what I wanted?
Regret that I bought it?
Confess I want everything?
Do I regret that I wanted to be something so haunted?
Haunted by everything?

I know I'm asking what nobody knows
I know I'm asking what nobody knows
I know I'm asking what nobody knows
