

Lost in the Calm

Hawthorne Heights

Oh, how you breathe so slow
It's hard enough to leave here
Your absent glow and a hospital
All I see is the end of the road

I sway and fall. Can I carry on?
Or have I lost you in the calm?
Take it back, take it back
I never wanted to live without you
Take it back, take it back right now
Take it back, take it back
I never knew how I feel about you
Take it back, take it back right now
Right now

Oh, how you seem to gloat
It's hard enough to think clear
I saw you last when the room was full
You stole the shine and left me dull

I sway and fall. Can I carry on?
Or have I lost you in the calm?
Take it back, take it back
I never wanted to live without you
Take it back, take it back right now
Take it back, take it back
I never knew how I feel about you
Take it back, take it back right now
Right now

Just relax and I will never ask you
Stick with me and I will never have to
This is where you belong
Just relax and I will never ask you
Tell the truth and I will never have to
This is where you belong
(Where do you belong?)
Just relax
Just relax and I will never have to

Take it back, take it back
I never wanted to live without you
Take it back, take it back right now
Take it back, take it back
I never knew how I feel about you
Take it back, take it back right now, right now