

Mean Machine

Hawthorne Heights

Say stop when I've gone to far
Don't make another play of words
"Boy quit reaching for the moon
You already had the stars"
You say that you're fading fast
But are you fading out?

You know that these last days will go by much to fast

Why would you ask for the moon?
You already have the stars, they're in your eyes
Why would you ask for the moon?
You already have the stars, they're in your eyes

(Why would you tell me that?!)
Why would you tell me that?
Why would you tell me woah-woah
Why would you tell me that?
Why would you tell me woah-woah

There's something about tonight
Reminds me of your pitch black eyes
There's something about tonight
Reminds me of your pitch black eyes

Why would you ask for the moon?
You already have the stars, they're in your eyes
Why would you ask for the moon?
You already have the stars, they're in your eyes

Why would you ask for the moon?
You already have the stars, they're in your eyes
They're in your eyes
Why would you ask for the moon?
You already have the stars, they're in your eyes
They're in your eyes
Why would you ask? (Why would you ask?)
Why would you ask? (Why would you ask?)
Why would you ask? (Why would you ask?)
Why did you ask?
Why would you ask for the moon?
You already have the stars, they're in your eyes
They're in your eyes
