

Attack Of The Dungeon Witch

He Is Legend

High Priestess you are the destruction
Of cities I sat in alone
With poisonous hands let me touch them
I'll have your throne

You've learned every song of the charmer
You've tamed every beast in the sea
Bite marks have covered my armor
Now come tame me

Wake up, the moon is gone, I know you're to blame
Well I watched you sink it to the depths of your lake
I knew the danger but I still said your name
Behold the dances of the snake

I know who started all the fires in this country
I will be counting every breath that you take
I knew the danger but I still let you touch me
Behold the dances of the snakes

Well if you got the magic and I got the moves
Then we'll see who will be hanging whom
Well if you got the magic and I got the moves
We'll see who will be hanging whom

Must you leave your broom at
The side of my bed, the side of my bed
I can't let, you do that
Cast spells on my head

Well if you got the magic then I got the moves
Then we'll see who wakes up next to whom
Well if you got the magic then I got the moves
Then we'll see who wakes up, then we'll see who wakes up

Wake up, the moon is gone and you're not to blame
But I still left you at the base of your stake
I knew the dangers but I left anyway
Behold the dances of the snake

Must you leave your broom at
The side of my bed, the side of my bed
I can't let you do that
Cast spells on my head

Must you leave your broom at
The side of my bed

I drank with the dungeon witch
Left my ring on her nightstand
I woke with the dungeon witch
And now she's got the upper hand

I drank with the dungeon witch
Left my ring on her nightstand
I woke with the dungeon witch
And now she's got the upper hand