

Storm

He Is We

You woke up a storm
The rush of my blood as adrenaline floods
In the eye and there's more
I'm coming for you it's a matter of time
Now watch as I rise
You're grasping to hold onto lies that you told
Don't seem so surprised
Feel the wind of my wrath and the lightning strikes

Oh
Thought you could kick me when I was down
Tell me
Where are you running now
Thought you'd get away somehow
Thought you could kick me when I was down

My chin is held high
Demanding respect that you didn't expect
Now look to the sky
Above it I love it I'm over your games
You're watching me fly
Gravity can't hold me elevating as
I conquer the night
I own the night

Oh
Thought you could kick me when I was down
Tell me
Where are you running now
Thought you'd get away somehow
Thought you could kick me when I was down

I was caught
In your web
You got inside
My head
I broke free
From the chains
Freedom pours
Down like rain

Oh
Thought you could kick me when I was down
Tell me
Where are you running now
Thought you'd get away somehow
Thought you could kick me when I was down
