

Laughing Without Smiling

Heart Attack Man

Clocked in, but you're not really here
Clocked out on another year
Rinse and repeat, still incomplete, as your sense of self disappears
Swimming in a t-shirt
Not enough change for the meter
Killing time, dead inside, and not paid enough to be here

And I see you going through the motions of your life and
It looks a lot like laughing without smiling
Sometimes I wonder why you're suffering in silence
Cuz I can hear you laughing but I don't see a smile on your face

Sounds good, see you there
You showed up but you don't really care
Same shit, different day
There's gotta be a better way, but we're not getting anywhere

Caught up somewhere in the middle
Real life, but make it artificial
Gave up, and nothing's ever felt so simple

And I see you going through the motions of your life and
It looks a lot like laughing without smiling
Sometimes I wonder why you're suffering in silence
Cuz I can hear you laughing but I don't see a smile on your face

And I see you going through the motions of your life and
It looks a lot like laughing without smiling
Sometimes I wonder why you're suffering in silence
Cuz I can hear you laughing but I don't see a smile on your face

I don't see a smile on your face
