

Lay Down and Die

Heart Attack Man

I heard the news today that you made your peace with dying
I hate the tidings came as completely unsurprising
You danced with death a hundred times, and wouldn't stop to save your life
What could've made you wanna change and not just lay down and die?

Seven minutes in a kiss of death
We're seconds separated from the end
Barely holding on between you being here and gone
Outside of heaven, held out by a breath

We're all suspended in between what life is worth and what it means
Told it's everything, but still gets lost so easily Hold my breath and hope I don't find what is that made you fine with giving up

Dance with death just one more time
One more song and one more line
It's never ending when you tell yourself it's fine
Will you let your time run out?
Die laying down, without a sound
Lay down and die

Seven minutes in a kiss of death
We're seconds separated from the end
Barely holding on between you being here and gone
Outside of heaven, held out by a breath

Barely holding on between you being here and gone
Barely holding on between you being here and gone
Barely holding on between you being here and gone
Outside of heaven, held out by a breath
