

You Never Know

Heartless Bastards

If I ask you to stay
Would you hold me in your arms
What a beautiful thing this could be

And I'd risk my heart breaking just to see where this could lead
What else am I going to do, but wonder my days through

You never know unless you let yourself see
You never know unless you open up your eyes
You never know until ya do
You never know until ya do

On this beautiful morning
Oh, there's a light in your eyes
And I don't know why sometimes
It makes me want to run and hide
But I'm getting a little older
Getting a little bolder
Getting a little wiser
Getting a little brighter
Ooh...

You never know unless you let yourself see
You never know unless you open up your eyes
You never know until ya do
You never know until ya do
You never know until ya do
