

Ten years strong without a second's pause.
Do you ever stop to think how far we've come?
Once teenage punks so starry-eyed and young,
With the simple dream of never growing up.
Well the times have changed but we've stayed the same,

And I wouldn't have it any other way.
When I look back at our time spent away from home,
All the soaring highs and crushing lows,
I couldn't have made it out alive without your love.

Remember the time we saw our lives flash before our eyes
On that coastal highway in the dead of night?
Well since then I've been holding tight,
Because I saw what I stood to lose
And couldn't imagine living without you
By my side through the constant fight
To make it through this life alive.

Did you ever imagine we'd be here?
Well here's to ten more years.
This world is ours, so let's burn it to the ground.
It can try its best, but it'll never stop us now.

This world is ours, so let's burn it to the ground.
This world is ours, so let's burn it to the ground.
This world is ours, so let's burn it to the ground.
It can try its best, but it'll never stop us now.