

A Human Experience

Heather Nova

We're having a human experience
Here on this spinning ball
Our eyes are half-open
We can't see it all

And we're lying on the ground
Looking at the big sky
And we're wishing on a cloud
Hoping we can just get by

What am I here to do?
What am I here to do?
Why am I drawn to you?

We're having a human experience
Here on this spinning ball
Our eyes are half-open
We can't see it all

And we're walking through the shadows
Looking always for the light
Looking always for the light
And we do it all for love
Not really know why

Your hands in mine
Your hands in mine
Your skin, your eyes

Looking always for the light

We're having a human experience
Here on this spinning ball
Our eyes are half-open
We can't see it all

We're tripping up with every step
We are enough, but we don't know it yet
