

Farewell

Heather Nova

Everybody's going someday
To find the light that gives us life
In the golden hour of that dying day
Everything we ever wanted we will give away

Around that bend in the road
We wind our way letting go
One brief sigh looking back
Returning to the heart at last

And through the forest fireflies in June
The pain we felt the joy we knew
To the clearing we will come at last
And when we get there we will dance

We leave our bones beneath the sun
We'll join our soul with everyone's
One brief sigh looking back
Returning to the heart at last

Farewell, farewell
Someone knew your heart and loved you well
Farewell, farewell
Someone cries and rivers rise and swell
Farewell, farewell
The sun will climb above the tolling bell
For you
Farewell
