

A Broken Taboo

Heavatar

Where I've been drifting all my life?
Seeking places deep inside
Always off to leave and on my way

Why did I open up my mind?
Striving for this look inside
Giving shelter to the final decay

My honest mind seeks the obvious taboo
My honest mind knows she's feeling this way too
The honest mind breaks another taboo
I am feeling faint
The honest mind is rebelling against you

I went too far, I'm leading to the path of disbelieving
The tempter of my soul
I follow this starlight, breathing
I never stopped believing
As I am not alone

Finally I leave my soul to your hands
Rays of light staying by our side
Walk this way together unified

Sending sounds into a void of silence
It's all hollow words and thoughts untied
Throwing light into the abyss of blindness
Granting all of us a look inside

Return from the fallen, repentant
Remembering a sentence
A promise for all time
To grant a pardon never ending
Our union is still pending based on a look inside

We came a long way to finally find the ease
A bit of swordplay to defend the disagree
We are still roaming
We are heading for the shore
No use in moaning
We are bound forevermore

Finally I leave my soul to your hands
Rays of light staying by our side
Walk this way together unified

Sending sounds into a voice of silence
It's all hollow words and thoughts untied
Throwing light into the abyss of blindness
Granting all of us a look inside