

Parallel

Heffron Drive

Counting stars, lying in the grass
Side by side, your head on my shoulder
We talk a lot about nothing much
With every breath we're getting closer

Parallel in this universe
Do we light up our hearts just to watch them burn?
Parallel. Are we crossing lines?
'Cause maybe tonight the stars align!

The stars align!

What if the one who was meant for you,
Was all along right in front of you?
You just didn't see. It was there all the time
Got a feeling tonight, yeah, the stars align

The stars align

I pick the thoughts out of your mind
And fit the pieces into a puzzle
Everything I wanna say about you
Is more than enough to write a novel

Parallel in this universe
Do we light up our hearts just to watch them burn?
Parallel. Are we crossing lines?
'Cause maybe tonight the stars align

The stars align

What if the one who was meant for you,
Was all along right in front of you?
You just didn't see. It was there all the time
Got a feeling tonight, yeah, the stars align

I'd throw a rope around the moon and pull it close.
Whatever it takes to be with you
Maybe tonight
Maybe tonight the stars align

The stars align!

What if the one who was meant for you,
Was all along right in front of you?
You just didn't see. It was there all the time
Got a feeling tonight, yeah, the stars align

The stars align
The stars align