

Love's Not The Question

Helen Reddy

There's no doubt about it
Love's not the question
And love's not the answer
To what's coming down

With more than enough
To hold most folks together
We've lost more than average folks
Ever have found

Ah, we can't kiss and make up
Make love and take up
Somewhere where we left off
Somewhere where we've been

'Cause love's not the question
And love's not the answer
From the beginning
It was destined to end

Love's not the question
And love's not the answer
For two headstrong people
Too set in our ways

We can't stay apart
And we can't stay together
A couple of misfits
That love cannot save

I remember forgiving
And we got love for taking
But there's no forgiving
There's no giving in

'Cause love's not the question
And love's not the answer
From the beginning
It was destined to end

Love's not the question
And love's not the answer
From the beginning
It was destined to end

From the beginning
It was destined to end