

Lantern on the Lake

Helia

We're living an illusion in a ghostly spring,
I'm barefoot on a spiny floor, my throne for suffering.
You will be my shoes, cause now I'm like a king
Embrace this existence, powerful and awakening
For every time I walked alone
I will survive
You know I'm better on my own
I will survive