

Tragedy

Hell or Highwater

Tragedy

why'd you come and find me
everything was going fine without you here
you take from me
everything i've ever love
you threw it all away
damn you tragedy
go away

Look to the skies to find your only friends all the ones you thought would stand beside you in the end fragile only is the rose that wilts away before it has the chance to grow how long are we here for?

i guess well never know

Tragedy

why'd you come and find me
everything was going fine without you here
you take from me
everything i've ever love
you threw it all away
damn you tragedy
go away

open your eyes with hope that fate will give a second chance in the same blink the final breath just slipped right through your hands and i hate the moments between living life and losing it its all the same when you leave us here to live without you how long are we here for?

i guess well never know

where'd you go?
seems like im always searching for you now

Tragedy

why'd you come and find me
everything was going fine without you here
you take from me
everything i've ever love
you threw it all away
damn you tragedy
go away