Smile

Hellions

I'm ready to run, are you ready?
I'm ready to run, are you ready?

It's an open faucet of confluent bullshit
We're all one, trying to make the best of it
Now how much pain can I sustain?
How much more can I inflict, is this it?

You know you've got to build the house
Before you let any guests in
You need shelter, need a home in your own skin
It mightn't be decadent but it cannot be desolate
Where's the happiness?

I'm ready to run, are you ready?
I'm ready to run, are you ready?

If we can shut the fuck up
Maybe we can learn to smile for once
And we've all got something to say
Living in a human menagerie

We're each complete with the gall to believe
Our problems are sophisticated, bold, unique
Smiles with no teeth
(Embraces with no squeeze)
Gestures for manners, no audible "please"

It's all been idle talk
And I've had nothing of substance to say
We talk about people
Not about ideas or how we came to be this way
This way

If we can shut the fuck up
Maybe we can learn to smile for once
And we've all got something to say
Living in a human menagerie

I'm ready to run, are you ready? I'm ready to run, are you ready?
I'm ready to run, are you ready? I'm ready to run, are you ready?
I'm ready to run, are you ready? I'm ready to run, are you ready?
I'm ready to run, are you ready? I'm ready to run, are you ready?

If we can shut the fuck up
Maybe we can learn to smile for once
(Smile with no teeth, strung out, off key)
And we've all got something to say
Living in a human menagerie
(Smile with no teeth, but your eyes I can believe)

If we can shut the fuck up
Maybe we can learn to smile for once
(Smile with no teeth, strung out, off key)
And we've all got something to say
Living in a human menagerie
(Smile with no teeth, but your eyes I can believe)

I'm ready to run, are you ready?
