Mysterious You

Hellogoodbye

Just when I think that I know you
Greens and pinks come in new hues
Colors by the thousands I had never seen

So you can see why I wonder
About the sea and what's under
How they are the same and how they separate

The water's cold, it bites the skin
But I don't care, I'm diving in
I've got to know what lies within
Underneath the surface tension

A mysterious you

We made a pact, we made a campsite
Bathed in black, only lamplight
Illuminates a thousand years of evergreens

And you can see your relation
To a tree, pure elation
Swipes over you like being born again
For the first time

World so big you'll never know
All there is to ever know
Find yourself a wild beast
And fall in love with mysteries

Mysterious me

Mysterious me, mysterious you
Mysterious things that both of us do
Mysterious you, mysterious me
Mysterious us, mysterious we
In mysterious love
