

Stare Into the Black

Hellogoodbye

Can life remain so beautiful?
Can a sunset stay so gold?
I guess I just don't care, it's here now
There's something everywhere, it's clear now
Nothing else exists, it's weird how we do

Can life remain so beautiful?
Can our love maintain this glow?
I wonder everyday
And then I'm blinded in a way
I overlooked just yesterday
I'm certain... I'll never see it all

So don't try to find it, it's everywhere
It's free but it's priceless, the sun in your hair
Or an hour of despair...
You can find it anywhere

Can life remain so beautiful?
Will I always even want to know?
I guess it's good to ask
And hope it never answers back
It's golden to stare into the black
You know there's more there

You can find it anywhere