

sever the blight

Hemlocke Springs

Where were you my lady?
I've been in the basement
She tied up my ankles
As a mere defacement

It's so charming, charming
He'll find a replacement for me

He wondered what I liked
I see the flowers in his hands
Bluebells and dahlias
Tied with a white ribbon

They are my favorite
I heave a sighing breath

Hah, hah, hah, hah love is miles away
Will I still wait here for you?

It will get cold in the dark
With those listless days at bay
And the pain, I'll always hide
But the hurt, well dare I say it?

So loathesome

Who said I was a fool?
To think in ways so grand?
You see, I'm no Snow White
The fairest of our land

I heave that sighing breath, my cavity expands

Hah, hah, hah, hah love is miles away
Will I still wait here?

Hah hah, hah, hah my heart is yours to take
But I'll still wait here for you

It will get cold in the dark
With those listless days at bay
And the pain, I'll always hide
But the hurt, well dare I find?

Love is miles away
But I'll still wait here for you

Hah, hah, hah, hah love is miles away
Will I still wait here for you?
