

Matthew

Hey Violet

You would hate to know the coffee shop you loved
It closed down
And the cigarettes you smoked
Yeah, they're more expensive now
But I would take a million changes
If it meant that you could stay here
Why is it the quiet that you left seems so loud?

I don't know, I don't know
Why, oh, why you left
I can feel, I can feel
Feel it in my chest
Oh, no
Don't go
Everything, everything
Everything you were
Sewn into my soul
Every vein and every nerve
Oh, please
Don't leave

I wish I still knew what your voice sounded like
We'd talk for hours but a hundred different things every night
And isn't it so lonely how
I just can't recall them now
Even though it's all that I have left of you and I

I don't know, I don't know
Why, oh, why you left
I can feel, I can feel
Feel it in my chest
Oh, no
Don't go
Everything, everything
Everything you were
Sewn into my soul
Every vein and every nerve
Oh, please
Don't leave

You slipped like sand through my fingertips
Can't stop thinking about
Did I love you enough?
And I know I couldn't save you from yourself
But I'll hold you inside
Would you haunt me until the day I die?
